

Fighting heatwaves in Chalandri

Your Quest:

You are an urban planner in the beautiful but rapidly warming city of Chalandri, Greece nestled in the heart of Europe. Over the past few years, your city has experienced increasingly severe heatwaves, putting a strain on its infrastructure, public health, and quality of life. The rising temperatures have become a significant challenge, and the pressure is mounting to find effective, sustainable solutions to adapt the urban environment.

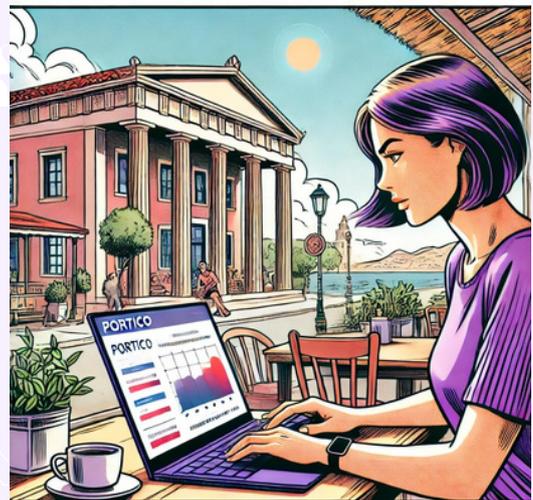

As you sip your morning coffee in your small office overlooking the bustling city square, your thoughts are interrupted by a notification on your computer. It's an email from your colleague talking about a new platform called Portico, asking you to find more about it.

MISSION

Your mission, should you choose to accept it, is to dive into Portico and discover the best practices and solutions being implemented to face heatwaves across the continent.

Go to the Portico platform and search for the portico member on the community. The person you are looking for is an expert that works with UIA, from the city of Hvar, Croatia and worked as an urban planner before to fight heatwaves in her region.

Click here to go to Portico

This challenge will take you through the platform Portico to find a key word that will allow you to win the treasure hunt and get a city's poster of your choice as a reward.